

Wayland, Dec. 27th 1859

Dear Mrs. Chapman,

I sent you some lines of poetry the other day, in which I should like to have a line altered.

Instead of,

The Blue Hills veiled in golden light

Please change it to

The Blue Hills bathed in golden light.

They write me word that Wendell Phillips has been asked to write for the Independent.
I wonder whether he will. It seems rather tough to write for a paper, where Dr. Bacon and Dr. Leavitt are Editors, and where young Tilton seems to be the only sound timber in the fabric. However, Wendell is orthodox, and so I suppose would like the paper better than I do.

95 Yours cordially L. M. Child.
